

Boatworks Program Recognized At Department Of Juvenile Services Presentation

Museum President Frank Newton, far left, received a certificate of appreciation on behalf of the Richardson Maritime Museum at the Dorchester Juvenile Drug Court Multi-Agency Appreciation Ceremony, August 17, 2005.

Four youths in the Department of Juvenile Services program built a skiff at the Boatworks in July. The finished boat was on display at the presentation, along with photos of the teens at work.

One of the youths who worked on the boat, Angel Creighton, was recognized for her success within the program and spoke to the gathering of its value in helping her to stay off drugs. She was awarded a scholarship for her first courses at Chesapeake College, another DJS partner.

Angel Creighton, second from right, participated in the Boatworks' DJS program and was recognized at the presentation for her successful efforts at staying off drugs. Here, left to right, she is congratulated by Newton; her mother, Starr Hurley; and her friend, Bobbie Willey.
